

Tactical Victories Are Won by Government in
Supreme Court Today

Nine Justices Refuse to Review
Litigations on the Constitution-ality of Three New Deal
Laws.

"DENIED"

Single Word Answers Action to Review Provisions of NRA and Relief Measure.

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP).—The government won tactical victories in the supreme court today when the nine justices refused to review litigation challenging the constitutionality of three New Deal laws.

The court declined to pass on an appeal filed by J. Edward Jones, New York securities dealer, questioning the constitutionality of the 1933 "truth in securities" act requiring registration of stocks before public sale.

It also refused to review an attack on provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act and of the 1935 emergency relief appropriation measure authorizing government loans and grants for construction of publicly-owned electric plants.

The action taken was purely on procedural grounds and had no direct relation to the merits of the legislation.

The only statement made by the court was that the appeals were "denied." The government had opposed a review of the controversies.

Government loans for electric plants were assailed by the Texas Utilities Company and the Alabama Power Company in an effort to stop construction of plants in eight Texas and Alabama cities.

Review Promised.
A review of a similar controversy, appealed by the Duke Power Company, already had been promised by the court and arguments are to be heard the week of November 3.

The Texas and Alabama companies lost in the Federal District Court for the District of Columbia, and asked the Supreme Court to review the case, without awaiting a ruling by the Circuit court, so it could be argued along with the Duke appeal. Such procedure is permitted occasionally.

In the Jones case, the Second Circuit Court of Appeals at New York upheld a temporary injunction to restrain him from violating the act.

Before starting another week of arguments, the justices also agreed to pass on disputes involving a Washington state sales tax imposed on articles imported for use in building Grand Coulee Dam; a seven year prison term imposed on Dirk De Jonge, a communist, by Oregon courts for violation of the state's criminal syndicalism law; and the New York Mortgage Commission Act.

It refused to review an appeal by John Jacob Astor and Waldorf Astor in their effort to recover $10,810,856 of federal estate taxes paid on $46,421,545 of property left them by their father, the late William Waldorf Astor of Great Britain, who died in 1919.

NICHOLAS CHARGED WITH RECKLESS DRIVING

Anthony J. Nicholas, 39, of 56 Hudson street, is charged with reckless driving by Claude S. Middagh of 126 Dray Avenue as the result of a collision between their automobiles Saturday on Wilbur avenue, near Dunn street.

Reporting the collision to the police, Middagh said he was driving north on Wilbur avenue, and saw Nicholas heading for him. He ran his car to the curb and Nicholas crashed into it, according to the statement.

Joseph Middagh of 243 Clinton avenue, riding in the Middagh car, was cut about the face and hands. In police court this morning, City Judge Bernard A. Culliton adjourned the case of Nicholas to October 22.

PRINCETON PRESIDENT
ASKS NO DRINKING

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 19 (AP).—Tickets mailed out today for next Saturday's Princeton-Navy game here were accompanied by a request by President Harold W. Dodds of Princeton University that "all persons refrain from use of alcoholic liquors" at the football games under auspices of the university.

Dr. Dodds said. "I have a sincere belief in the future of the sport." He asked a curb on drinking "on behalf of the friendly rivalry of the day who arrive to maintain high standards of sportsmanship on the field, and in the interest of the vast majority of spectators to whom such drinking is an offense."

Kills Self
Tokyo, Oct. 19 (AP).—Capt. Wataru Tanaka of the Japanese army general staff killed himself today because of his participation in the military uprising against the Tokyo government last February. Captain Tanaka, who had served at Moscow and Warsaw, left a farewell note which said: "Love the imperial family. Profound regret. Thanks."

Bartram H. Houghtaling
In Employ of Freeman
For Nearly Half Century

One man now in the employ of The Freeman, Bartram H. Houghtaling, has been employed continuously by the Daily Freeman for nearly 50 years. Mr. Houghtaling entered the employ of this paper on July 8, 1887.

His recollection of the men and events of that date are vivid and interesting. Mr. Houghtaling is actively engaged in the mechanical department and his ability, enthusiasm and vigor give no indication of his faithful and diligent service for nearly a half century.

15,936 Persons Now
Registered to Vote
Setting New Record

Registration in Kingston hit a new high figure Saturday, 15,936 having called at the polls in the 13 wards in preparation for election day.

Previous to this registration, the highest was in 1935, when 15,405 registered. In 1932 when Hoover ran against Roosevelt, the figure was 15,192, and in 1928 when Al Smith opposed Hoover, 15,307.

In four of the wards, the mark went over the 1,000, the highest figures being recorded in the second district of the Second ward, 1,467. The Eleventh ward had 1,342 and the first district of the Twelfth, 1,265 and the second district of the Thirteenth, 1,041.

According to reports, Father Divine's followers did not register in large numbers. Lefty Krom, election inspector at High Falls, said that only eight had applied for registration there, all being eligible. All used their regular names in registering. It was said, except one, who said he had been given permission to change his name by a supreme court justice in New York.

Saturday's enrollment and that of the four days was as follows:

	Saturday	4 Days
Ward 1, Dist. 1	185	930

KINGSTON MEN HURT IN ACCIDENT BELOW HIGHLAND

William Carter, 32, of 151 Abeel street and John Barnett, 45, of 33 Abeel street, both negroes, were brought to the Kingston Hospital Saturday afternoon, having been injured in an accident below Highland, on Route 3-W.

Carter, who had an injured arm, left the hospital today, but Barnett, who was more seriously injured, sustaining a fractured arm and ribs, is still in the hospital.

Friends Not Gaily

Westport, Conn., Oct. 19 (AP).—Don Burdick, 36-year-old New York broker, pleaded innocent today through his attorney to a charge that he shot his wealthy father-in-law, Harry E. Byram, "with intent to murder." Burdick did not appear in the Westport town court for his arraignment, leaving the entire proceedings in charge of Raymond Hackett, Stamford lawyer. Within a minute after the case was called, Judge Frank McMahon bound Burdick over to the January term of the superior court.

Ten Days For Indictment

John Lodon, 41, of Cambridge, Mass., a steam driver, was arrested at New Palitz by Deputy Sheriff New York and arraigned before Justice A. V. Dayton on a charge of public intoxication. He was given 10 days in the county jail.

Prepare for Hearings

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP).—Abraham S. Weber, director of the state budget, prepared today to open hearings on departmental requests for appropriations for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Sixty-five years ago, on October 18, 1871, the Daily Freeman made its first appearance. It was published to meet a demand for a daily newspaper, and when begun it was an original proposition with its editor and proprietor, Horatio Fowks.

The weekly Freeman was then in existence and had been for some time, but it was a tremendous undertaking for Mr. Fowks to put out a daily newspaper. From its beginning, however, the venture proved successful.

The Weekly Freeman continued its existence after the Daily Freeman was established, and in 1881 was consolidated with the Kingston Journal and the new publication made its first appearance on January 6, 1881, under the name of The Kingston Journal and Weekly Freeman, with Charles Marselles, who also at the time conducted The Daily Freeman, as its proprietor. The name of the weekly publication afterward became "The Kingston Freeman & Journal," later was issued semi-weekly under the name of "The Kingston Freeman and Journal," as the paper was named at the time, was discontinued as a semi-weekly on July 29, 1932. At present The Freeman is issued solely in the daily form.

The Daily Freeman was issued first as The Roundout Daily Freeman. On April 1, 1872, it became the Daily Freeman, the old villages of Roundout and Kingston having been united in one city, October 28, 1878, it became The Kingston Daily Freeman. The Freeman Publishing Company, present owners, was organized in 1911.

First a Weekly
The history of the Freeman and its predecessors in direct line reach back a long way in the history of Ulster county. The Daily Freeman was the natural outgrowth of The Weekly Freeman, which was established in May, 1860. The Kingston Journal, had been established earlier, antedating The Weekly Freeman by 20 years. The Kingston Journal, for many years under the editorship of the late William H. Romeyn, was one of the most influential Republican weekly newspapers in the state of New York. William H. Romeyn was its editor and proprietor; for many years H. L. Tobey was associate editor and publisher.

In announcing consolidation of The Weekly Freeman and the Kingston Journal in the issue of January 6, 1881, the editor said: "It long has been apparent that the maintenance of two weekly newspapers under one management in the same city was a superfluous labor and expense. He explained that the name 'Journal' in the name of the new weekly paper was given first place because it was the oldest newspaper in the county, but the form of The Freeman was retained because of its greater beauty and convenience. The circulation of the new publication was claimed to be the largest of any weekly newspaper in New York state outside of the metropolis.

"In politics," he said, "the Journal and Freeman will be like its predecessors, Republican, always reserving the right to treat matters of local government independently and from a business and economical standpoint.

The management of the newspaper is free from interested dictation in any quarter and never has been and never will be the organ of selfish cliques or rings."

No Complete History
A complete history of the newspapers of Ulster county never has been written, so far as The Freeman can discover, and the present sketch is not by any means complete. The information contained is gained principally from files of the papers themselves, which were deposited several years ago in the Kingston City Library through the efforts of Chaplain Roswell Randall Hoos, United States Navy, retired, who procured the consent of the local newspapers to deposit their files there and who personally deposited some of the files of early newspapers which he had collected in various ways.

The Weekly Freeman in 1880 apparently was a new venture, but not so The Kingston Journal, which was simply the consolidation of and successor to existing weekly newspapers. The Political Reformer and The Ulster Sentinel, and the two were consolidated into The Journal.

Mr. Romeyn, in announcing the consolidation of The Political Reformer and Ulster Sentinel said in his first issue of The Journal: "The reasons for this movement have been answered already, and doubtless are familiar to all our readers. It is well known that in a county situated like ours, there is not patronage enough to sustain separate establishments, advocating the same general principles and devoted to the promotion of the same policy."

18 Men, 1 Woman Dead
In Erie Waters After
Gale Sank Sandsucker

Second Major Disaster of 1936
Season on Great Lakes Finds
Only Seven Rescued From Icy Waters.

NO WARNING

Boat Overtaken Suddenly Just as Order Was Given to Man the Lifeboats.

Cleveland, Oct. 19 (AP).—The cold, treacherous waters of Lake Erie held today bodies of 18 men and one woman, victims of a 50-mile gale which overturned and sank the 252-foot Canadian sandsucker, Sand Merchant, in the second major disaster of the 1936 Great Lakes season.

Of 26 aboard, only seven remained today, to tell how a majority of their benumbed companions dropped off, one by one, from the two capsize lifeboats to which they clung through a terrifying night of waiting. For 10 hours they watched unseeing ships pass them. Then daylight brought their rescue five miles off Cleveland.

One of the seven rescued was Graham Maclelland, 39-year-old captain of the gale-stricken ship. Another was Herman Dault, crane operator, who lost two brothers—the second just 30 minutes before the rescue yesterday morning.

"It was the most terrifying night that you could possibly imagine," said Captain Maclelland, his eyes bloodshot, his face haggard.

"I towed life to Dault and (John L.) Ideon, the three of us left of the seven hanging to our lifeboat. Just after I gave the signal to man the boats we overturned like a flash.

Knocked Out
"There was no warning. The first thing I knew I was in the water and something hit me. I don't know where, and I went out like a light. The last thing I remember was someone pulling my hair and it made me mad.

"During the night several boats passed within sight, in fact one was only about a quarter of a mile away. We had no way to attract their attention. Several times Dault and Ideon pulled me back on the lifeboat when I thought I was gone. After ten hours of hanging on, we were rescued."

Amos Dault, slipped into the chilling, clutching waters of the lake but a half hour before the other three were rescued on the other lifeboat.

Kept Slapping Brother
His brother, Herman, said he held on to him for four hours. "I couldn't hold him up any longer. I kept slapping him to keep the blood circulating, but I just couldn't hold on. I was all exhausted. He didn't say a thing when he went down. He just slipped."

A third brother, Joseph Dault, also was lost in the mishap.

It was the second sand-sucker tragedy on the Great Lakes this season. The Material Service sank off Chicago on July 27 with 15 lost.

Coast Guards from Cleveland, Lorain and Toledo searched for bodies without success. Only bits of the broken Sand Merchant were visible on the agitated waters.

"We saw driftwood and pillows and other wreckage, but there was not a sign of anything else," said William E. Crapo, head of the Cleveland coast guard.

At Ottawa, R. K. Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine, said immediate steps would be taken for a preliminary inquiry as the basis for a formal inquiry.

Capt. George Barrett of the U. S. Coast Guard at Erie, Pa., said a lone unidentified sailor on the barge Genevieve Meyers had drowned off Conneaut after the barge broke loose in the same storm.

Sailed Thursday
The 26 sailed from Point Pelee, Ont., Thursday afternoon with a load of sand. The ill-fated Cleveland bound boat ran into the gale Saturday night. After a battle with the mounting, commanding seas, it capsized at 10 p. m., 14 miles northwest of Cleveland.

First word of the disaster came when the seven survivors, four on the one overturned lifeboat and three on the other, were rescued by the freighter Thunder Bay Quarries and the car ferry Desmores & Marquette Inc.

J. D. Parze, general manager of the National Sand and Materials Limited, owners of the nine-year-old 2,600-ton steamer, announced today that the official death list was 19 persons, all Canadians.

Fascist Spearhead Moves to Within 20 Miles of Madrid as Loyalists Become DesperateBleakley Promises
To Restore Salary
Cuts to Teachers

Enroute with Bleakley campaign caravan, Oct. 19 (AP).—William F. Bleakley, Republican candidate for governor, drove his bid for votes into populous western New York today with a twin declaration for full state aid for education and immediate restoration of teachers' salary cuts.

"If elected," he said, "one of the first things I shall do will be to see that these salary cuts are restored."

At the same time, the nominee asserted that President Roosevelt's five steps in as many cities in New York state on Saturday, urging Governor Lehman's reelection, "indicates to all thinking people that distress signals have been flying from the Lehman ship of state for the last 30 days."

Bleakley made the statements as he left Rochester for a day's stump which called for stops at Batavia, Niagara Falls and Buffalo.

Blames Lehman

The candidate, in making his first announcement regarding state aid for education, placed the blame for the salary reductions effected in 1932 upon the then Governor Roosevelt and criticized Governor Lehman for vetoing legislation last winter that would have restored them.

"I am not only in favor of full state aid for education," he said, "but I am unqualifiedly in favor of the immediate restoration of salary cuts."

The statement was prompted, Bleakley said, by what he described as a pamphlet distributed by the Democratic state committee to teachers throughout the state, asking "are you ready to work for nine dollars a week?" and urging reelection of President Roosevelt and Lehman.

The nominee emphasized that the Republican party "has always supported appropriations sufficient to adequately carry out to the fullest extent all of the provisions of the Friedman Act."

Salamanca, Spain, Oct. 19 (AP).—Rumbling columns of motorized Fascist troops, pushing north from strategic Illescas, linked together a strong insurgent line within 20 miles of Madrid today.

The spearhead of the Fascist attack on the besieged capital centered in the vicinity of Casarrubuelos, about 18 miles south of Madrid near the main highway leading from Toledo.

Reinforced infantry forces, aided by artillery and aviation, pushed ahead after occupying Illescas, 22 miles south of Madrid.

The operation, Fascist commanders declared, consolidated a strong insurgent offensive which gave the attackers a solid line running irregularly from El Alamo, four miles from Navalcarnero, to a point approximately eight miles west of the important communications center of Aranjuez, west of Toledo.

The line was marked on Fascist maps through the towns of Cedillo, Asana, and southwestward to La Alameda.

Begin New Drive
Insurgent forces advancing on the capital in the western sector were reported to have begun a new drive toward El Escorial, in the north, and Navalcarnero, on the main Maqueda-Madrid highway.

Fascist troops completed their occupation of Robledo de Chavela in preparation for a march on El Escorial. Retreating government soldiers killed 30 Fascist hostages before evacuating the region, reports declared.

East of the Toledo front, insurgent gunners bombarded the Madrid-Valencia railroad in fresh attempts to maintain isolation of the capital, whose rail connections with the eastern coast were severed Saturday.

Traffic was suspended on the line, blocking shipments of food and supplies from government-controlled territory southeast of Madrid.

The advance on Illescas came as a surprise to depending Socialist militiamen as insurgents rolled northward in trucks and buses.

The Fascist push swept the government forces before it, plunging through sandbagged barricades after heavy artillery bombardments had prepared the way.

Militiamen from Madrid surrendered Illescas only after a stubborn struggle. Colonel Barron, in command of the Socialist troops, ordered the retreat northward after 200 of his men had been killed, Fascist commanders reported.

Salinas Desperate

Madrid, Oct. 19 (AP).—Desperate in the face of a surging Fascist advance, the socialist government massed strong forces at Torrelaguna, 14 miles south of the capital today.

General Jose Ascaso, commander of government forces, ordered militiamen defending the Toledo-Madrid highway to take up strong positions near Parla, a small settlement north of Torrelaguna.

"Fascist" paratroopers deployed their forces were sweeping northward under artillery and aviation protection after occupying the

Young Roosevelt Revises Account
of What He Said at Gardner, Mass., Rally.

Aboard Landon Train En Route to California, Oct. 19 (AP).—A call for President Roosevelt to say whether he intends "to perpetuate the NRA willy-nilly" was voiced today by Gov. Alf M. Landon as the Republican Presidential nominee headed west for a major address Tuesday at Los Angeles.

In a formal statement, the Kansan commented on a speech last week by James Roosevelt, the President's son, Governor Landon said: "This much is clear, that young Roosevelt understands the President still to intend to make NRA principles live and operate in our government by one device or another."

The statement was made public as Landon crossed the foothills of the Rockies en route to Albuquerque, N. M., for a short speech (at 3:30 p. m., mountain standard time), the first during a strenuous two weeks of campaigning that will take him twice the distance across the continent.

"The President," Landon said, "must specifically deny that his son's views are his views. Otherwise, the silence of the father will be the confession that the son spoke for the President when he gave us to understand that his father intended to perpetuate the NRA willy-nilly."

Landon's statement said "there are two versions of what young Roosevelt said (at Gardner, Mass.). One taken down in shorthand, according to the press, at the time the statement was made, and the other given out by the speaker himself the next day and then changed by him some two hours later."

Actual Intentions
"As to the actual intentions of the President regarding the NRA, the two statements are in essence identical." . . .

"Mr. James Roosevelt's own account of what he said as quoted in the press is as follows: 'These are the purposes of the NRA. The administration is pledged to attempt to carry out the purposes of the NRA in every constitutional manner. Should there be no way in which this can be accomplished, which we do not admit, I as an individual see no alternative but to ask the people for the right to make those purposes constitutional through the Congress of the United States.'"

Landon stated the conclusion to be reached in the matter was clear "without attempting to unravel Mr. James Roosevelt's constitutional theories as expressed in the last sentences of his statement (they have a certain New Deal smack about them)."

The governor bade his family goodbye at the station in Topeka last night and spoke briefly to a crowd gathered about the rear platform of his car.

Meets Emporia Editor

At Emporia, Kas., the first stop after leaving Topeka, Landon exchanged greetings with his friend, William Allen White, famed Emporia Editor.

"Well, here's the old he-devil himself," was Landon's hearty greeting. "How are you Alf," said White.

They chatted and posed for pictures while a crowd of about fifty looked on.

As the train started, Landon turned with surprise and jumped aboard.

Accompanying the nominee were his advisers, Ralph West Robey, former Columbia economics professor and Olin Glenn Saxton, head of the Republican national committee research staff; James T. Williams of the Hearst newspapers; and Landon's personal party.

Landon is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles at 2 p. m. (PST) Tuesday for an address in the Coliseum there at 8 p. m.

His subject has not been announced. Aides said speeches entitled "The Constitution," "Broken Promises," and "Civil Service," virtually were completed and ready for delivery.

NO CIVIC FORUM MEETING
UNTIL NOVEMBER 17

Owing to the nearness to election which this year is of especial importance and to the number of other activities occupying the attention of Kingstonsians there will be no meeting of The Civic Forum until Tuesday evening, November 17, when the forum will meet at the city hall.

At that time, in addition to subjects presented by different groups, the entire forum will consider "What I Can Do to Secure Better Law Enforcement."

All those interested in the Civic Forum's activities, are asked to take note of the chance of date of the next meeting from tomorrow, Tuesday, October 21, to Tuesday, November 17.

ITALY "CLEANING UP" ETHIOPIAN SECTIONS

Addis Ababa, Oct. 19 (AP)—Italy today completed a "mass reprisal" against Ethiopian irregulars who last July ambushed and killed 12 Fascist aviators in western Walla Province.

Thirty Italian bombing and transport planes, carrying 500 men armed with rifles and machine guns, landed at Lokemti, dispatches to Addis Ababa reported, and engaged irregular troops in a fierce battle during which the natives suffered heavy casualties.

Swooping down on the surprised Ethiopians, the Blackshirts scattered Emperor Haile Selassie's former soldiers and joined forces with local warriors sympathetic to the Italians. The combined expedition sought out the Ethiopians belatedly responsible for the July slayings and attacked them with bombs and machine guns.

"Post" and "Mail"

Like many other English words, post and postoffice, postman, postage and so on which refer to mail matters are derived from Latin and literally mean placed, says the Pathfinder Magazine. Such use of the word may be traced back to the earliest known means of transmitting messages—by courier—and later, horses were placed at regular relay points along the post routes. Public coaches or chaises which carried mail as well as passengers were called post-chaises. Oddly enough, the places where the Romans stationed their relay horses were marked by posts along the road. . . . The word mail, by the way, is derived from the male, Middle English and Old French, meaning a bag or wallet.

Familiar Scenes of Ulster County In Woodstock Art Project Exhibit

Woodstock, Oct. 17.—Historic landmarks and familiar scenes of Ulster county have an important place in the exhibition of the completed work of the Ulster County Federal Art Project, which opened in the Woodstock Art Gallery on Thursday afternoon.

Over 100 visitors, most of them from out of town, viewed the opening of this show which is judged by many to rank among the best shows held here in recent years, and certainly the most outstanding one of the season. Hardly one artist's work can be said to outshine that of another for all are of equal quality, each one excellent in its field.

The show, which will remain open for the rest of this month, includes all types of work being done on the project, oil paintings, water colors, etchings, lithographs, craft models, wood-cuts, poster, murals, representing the work of about 46 artists during the time that the project has been in operation.

The work is selected from those on hand in the office of Judson Smith, the supervisor of the project, as well as one already allocated to Kingston and Saugerties High Schools, the State Conservation Department, the State Department of Health, hospitals, Ulster county and Woodstock winter sports. These allocated works have been loaned for the occasion.

"Old Clermont" Among the oil paintings of historic landmarks if any can be considered outstanding it is "Old Clermont" by George Franklin. This picture has been allocated to Kingston where the memory of that old Hudson river boat is cherished.

"Bridge at Saugerties" by Jack Bentley is a present day landscape allocated to Saugerties whose citizens cannot fail to recognize the familiar scene, the modern bridge with a background of rooftops and city streets.

Saugerties "S. S. Ida." Also allocated to Saugerties is Lila Copeland's "S. S. Ida," another historic Hudson river boat. A quiet scene, typical of Catskill Mountain beauty is "Hudson River" by Georgina Klitgaard, allocated to Kingston. Other oil paintings of familiar scenes are "Old U. and D. Station" by Cecil Chichester, allocated to Kingston; "Industry," and "Brickyard" by Edward Dreis, allocated to Kingston; "Clay Pits," by Harry Gottlieb, allocated to Kingston; "View at Rondout" by August Mecklem, allocated to Kingston; "Swimming Hole" and "View at Rondout" by John Nichols, allocated to Kingston; and "Merritt's Store" by Dorothy Varian, allocated to Kingston.

Ward's Mural An interesting part of the show is a section of the mural for Jones Beach Pavilion, Long Island, painted by Edgar Melville Ward of Kingston. "Under Sea Life," painted in jects of art, china, glassware, furniture, quilts, etc., when finished and assembled will make a complete and accurate record of American antiques for the use of historians, designers, craftsmen, etc., for years to come. These drawings were done by R. W. Wolcsek, F. Cartier, Nicolas Gordin, Maud Schmid, Isabel DeStrange. The alphabetical catalogue of the show is as follows. The name of the artist is followed by the title of the painting and its allocation:

Oil Paintings
John Bentley, "Bridge at Saugerties," Saugerties.
Edwin Braddon, "Old Barn," Kingston.
Tod Brower, "Polo Players," Kingston.
Cecil Chichester, "Old U. and D. Station," Kingston.
Emily Cooney, "Landscape," New York State WPA.
Lila Copeland, "S. S. Ida," Saugerties.
Konrad Cramer, "Abstraction," New York State WPA.
Edward Dreis, "Industry," "Brickyard," Kingston.
Emmett Edwards, "Abstraction," N. Y. State WPA.
Karl Fortes, "October," New York State WPA.
George Franklin, "Old Clermont," Kingston.
Dorothy Gilbert, "Winter Landscape," Saugerties.
Harry Gottlieb, "Clay Pits," Kingston.
Paul Gray, "My Studio," N. Y. State WPA.
Rosella Hartman, "Still Life," N. Y. State WPA.
Wendell Jones, "Falling Leaves," Kingston.
Georgina Klitgaard, "Hudson River," Kingston.
Erna Lange, "Winter Landscape," N. Y. State Board of Health.
Eugene Ludins, "Landscape," New York State WPA.
Austin Mecklem, "View at Rondout," Kingston.
Sosa Melik, "Still Life," N. Y. State WPA.
Roland Mousseau, "Winter Day," New York State Board of Health.
John Nichols, "Swimming Hole," "View at Rondout," Kingston.
Ellen Oranne, "Valley Farms," N. Y. State WPA.
David Reasoner, "Autumn," N. Y. State Board of Health.
Paul Rohland, "Dahlia," N. Y. State Board of Health.
Woodford Royce, "White Birch," Saugerties.
Walter Sarff, "Interior," N. Y. State WPA.
Gustave Schrader, "Old Homestead," New York State WPA.
Dorothy Varian, "Merritt's Store," Kingston.

Murals
Edgar Melville Ward, "Under Sea Life," Jones Beach Pavilion, L. I.

Sculpture
John Banks, "Animals No. 1," "Animals No. 2" (Bas-relief friezes), N. Y. State WPA.
Alfeo Faggi, "Seated Male Figure," N. Y. State WPA.
Paul Flene, "Cat," "Deer," N. Y. State WPA.

Graphic Arts
David Anderson, Posters, Woodstock, Kingston.
A. Grant Arnold, "December Trees" and "Mid-winter Day" by A. Grant Arnold are very fine lithographs, representing the only lithography being done on the project. Wood cuts by Arnold Wilts and illustrations for "Pinocchio" by William Soles are also interesting. Mr. Soles is one of the most recent members of the Ulster County Federal Art Project.

There is nothing complicated, nothing subtle about the pictures in this show; they are direct and straightforward American art. Not the least worth while section of the exhibition is that devoted to work on the index of Design division of the project. The painstaking water color drawings of American objects of art, china, glassware, furniture, quilts, etc., when finished and assembled will make a complete and accurate record of American antiques for the use of historians, designers, craftsmen, etc., for years to come. These drawings were done by R. W. Wolcsek, F. Cartier, Nicolas Gordin, Maud Schmid, Isabel DeStrange.

Japanese Will Open Airline to Islands In Pacific Ocean

(By The Associated Press)

Geneva, Oct. 19.—Japan will open an airline to the mandated Pacific islands which once belonged to Germany, an official report to the League of Nations disclosed today.

Apparently answering in advance any possible accusation that the airline will be used for military purposes, the Japanese announced the project was to "promote efficiency of administration and assist industrial and social activities of the inhabitants."

At the same time, disturbed over reports that she recently withdrew warships from the islands, Japan said she never had had either fortifications or naval forces in the area. The Marianne or Ladron Islands, nearest of the mandates, are approximately 1,600 miles from Japan. The report said the only means of communication at present from Japan to the islands, was by subsidized steamship service. This was held "unsatisfactory."

As for the militarization reports, the Japanese document said: "Simultaneously with the establishment of the South Seas Bureau in April of 1932, the South Seas defense corps was abolished and the entire naval contingent stationed in the islands was withdrawn."

"Since then, absolutely no military or naval forces have been stationed there. No military or naval base or other fortification ever has been maintained or newly-built within the territory. The natives never have been subjected to military training."

The statement was contained in the annual Japanese report to the league mandate commission, which meets next week.

Roosevelt Pauses At Capital, Then Off to New England

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP).—President Roosevelt settled himself at the White House today for a 40-hour stay, striving to clear his desk of an accumulation of business before re-summing, in New England, his fast-traveling campaign for re-election.

Driving through bright early morning sunshine to the White House from a special train that brought him from his Hyde Park, N. Y., home last night, the chief executive settled to work almost at once.

Traveling by train and motor, Mr. Roosevelt will turn northward before mid-week for a six-speech campaign drive in three New England States, taking up not far from where he ended last week a 5,000-mile mid-western tour.

Except to see a few cabinet officers, including Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in his study in the executive mansion, he had no engagements for the day.

He planned to remain away from his office and work on the remainder of a two-foot stack of mail that accumulated in the last five days of his western trip. He disposed of part of this yesterday afternoon at Hyde Park.

Tuesday night he will leave Washington for Rhode Island, Massachusetts and Connecticut, which have an aggregate of 29 electoral votes. All three states have been marked by Roosevelt lieutenants as "battle ground" territory.

Roosevelt won two of the states—Rhode Island and Massachusetts—four years ago by respective majorities of 51,000 and 53,000. He lost Connecticut to Hoover by a little more than 6,000.

23 Killed, 30 Hurt In Italian 'Quake'

Cañava Di Scalle, Italy, Oct. 19 (AP).—Terrified residents of northern Italy camped in open fields today in fear of recurring earthquakes which killed at least 23 persons and injured 30 others.

The majority of casualties came from tumbling walls in sharp earth shocks which started at dawn yesterday.

A dozen houses in this region were destroyed while 300 others were damaged so seriously engineers ordered them abandoned.

Principal sufferers from the tragedy were farmers living in small houses throughout this rich vineyard area.

Rescue and rehabilitation work progressed rapidly as authorities called Fascist soldiers to assist the distressed inhabitants.

League Dance Plans Progress

The dance to be held by the Junior League at the Governor Clinton Hotel, on October 25, following the concert sponsored by the Cooperative Concert Association, promises to be highly successful in every way.

Mrs. G. V. D. Hutton, chairman of the supper committee, and Mrs. Jay LeFevre, assistant chairman, have announced that several rooms have been reserved for parties both large and small. However, there are many rooms which may still be reserved by calling Mrs. Hutton or Mrs. LeFevre.

Dancing will be from 10 until 2, with Roger Bacon and his orchestra furnishing the music.

FEATHERS FOR COUGHLIN LANDS MAN IN JAIL

Detroit, Oct. 19 (AP).—Woody Hockaday, self-styled "Prince of Peace," who believes "feathers are more potent than bullets," waited in jail today for Detroit police to decide what disposition should be made of his case.

The Wichita, Wis., man, arrested Saturday when he interrupted a meeting while Father Charles E. Coughlin was speaking, continued his feather throwing which first came to public during the Democratic national convention in Philadelphia.

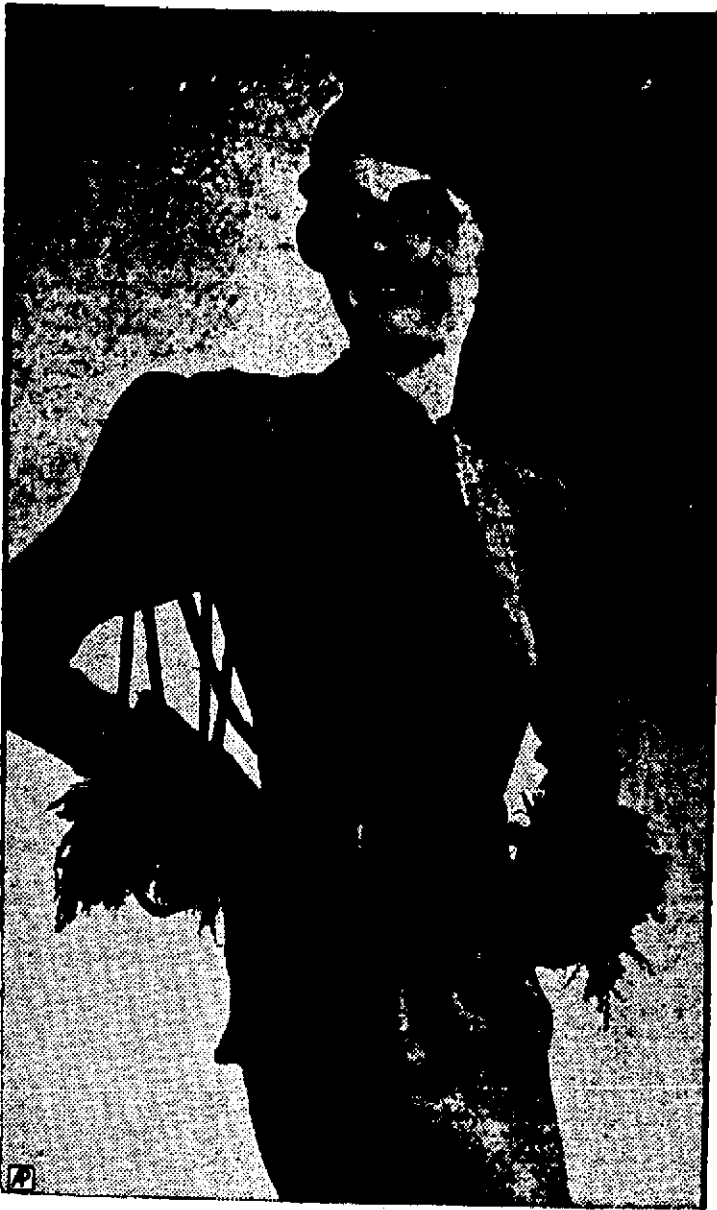

Police said they had three alternatives: Charging Hockaday with inciting to riot, releasing him to his wife, Mrs. Grace Hockaday, who phoned police from Buffalo, N. Y., that she was en route to Detroit; or holding him for Kansas relatives who promised to pay the expense of his return to that state, according to Police Lieut. Anton Soderstrom.

Lieut. Soderstrom said a Hutchinson, Kas., institution telegraphed that Hockaday escaped there.

Hockaday said he planned to "feather" Father Coughlin at an earlier meeting in Boston but had missed him that city. He said he was "proud of the way I handled Saturday's job."

Furniture Exhibit.
The Kingston City unit of the Ulster County Home Bureau, holding a class in reconditioning of furniture, will have "victors" day, Wednesday, October 21, at the home of Mrs. Clyde Hutton, 19 Alkazar avenue, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. All are welcome to attend.

Soviet Angry at Neutrality Delay

Moscow, Oct. 19 (AP).—Russia, angered over delay in application of practical measures to enforce neutrality in the Spanish civil war, is determined to withdraw from the non-intervention accord, informed sources declared today.

Soviet denunciation of the "Hands off Spain" agreement signed by 27 European nations will be based on the assertion public opinion can no longer tolerate the "disgraceful situation" to which the neutrality pact has sunk, these sources asserted. The Kremlin has made up its mind on the withdrawal, it was reported, and may announce its decision today or tomorrow.

Statements in authoritative Russian newspapers made it plain Russia desires to break up the agreement so that nations friendly to the Madrid government will not be bound by the pact. (Soviet denunciation, if and when it comes, will follow a series of attempts to force the neutrality committee in London to adopt "practical measures" to isolate the Spanish conflict. Russia has charged Italy, Germany and Portugal with aiding Spanish insurgents but the committee declined to act until those three governments had an opportunity to reply to the Soviet accusations.)

SIXTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

The Daily Freeman was 65 years old on Sunday, having made its first appearance on October 18, 1871.

The history of The Freeman and its predecessors in direct line reach back a long way in the annals of Ulster county. The Daily Freeman was the natural outgrowth of the weekly Freeman, which was established in May, 1860. The Kingston Journal, which became a part of The Freeman, had been established earlier, antedating the weekly Freeman by 20 years. The Kingston Journal for many years was one of the most influential Republican newspapers in the state of New York. The paper during most of its existence was of very large size.

In reading the news contained in the first issue of The Daily Freeman one cannot but be impressed by the similarity of happenings then and now and to wonder whether there is anything new under the sun. History repeats itself, because human nature changeth not. Human nature demands to know what other people are doing, and The Daily Freeman has made it a business of supplying that demand every day.

The Freeman does not attempt to sing its own praise. It is able to have its praises sung by others and to enjoy its 65 years of healthy and vigorous life.

The late Jay E. Klock was responsible for the present size and influence of The Freeman. From a small paper Mr. Klock managed to make an institution respected and revered throughout the county, and one of the largest and most successful of all local business houses.

THE GLIMMER RACKET

Post office inspectors are doing a real service in releasing information for publication in newspapers in regard to swindlers. The postal officials, knowing the power of the press in reaching into the household, request publication of articles as a deterrent effect upon the swindlers as well as upon their prospective victims. Fake eye specialists operating in rural sections are the latest band of crooks to be exposed.

Officials declare a nation-wide ring posing as eye doctors have been fooling country folk by pretending to remove cataracts from the eyes. The scheme has been worked on aged and infirm persons and the ease with which they extort large sums from their victims is surpassed only by the brutality of their scheme. Often the victim is left temporarily believing he has been saved from cancer, blindness or paralysis, when he has not benefited and has been robbed of his money.

This method of swindling is known to the underworld as the Glimmer Racket.

The pseudo specialists usually work in pairs and sometimes are accompanied by a woman posing as a nurse. In the racket there are also "finger men" who travel about selling eye glasses and at the same time obtain names and addresses for the gang known as "specialists" who will later call upon the victims.

At times the "specialists" visit homes pretending they want to purchase the property and during the conversation represent that they are "eye specialists." Before leaving they tell the prospect he is afflicted with an eye cancer, cataract or "film" and induce him to take their treatment.

The active assistance of all citizens in promptly reporting to police officials any crooks in this despicable racket will help wipe out this swindle and have a restraining influence upon those who might otherwise be tempted to engage in this or a similar type of swindle.

In Ulster county there are sufficient physicians, surgeons, oculists and opticians who should be consulted by the aged and those afflicted with eye ailments rather than the glib impostor.

APPRENTICESHIP

With the revival of industry and the rapid absorption of skilled workmen, the country begins to feel the lack of apprentice training. The conference of the National Youth Administration at Albany called upon the state government to help organize such training in all lines of skilled work. There is a shortage of skilled men not only because the old apprentice system has broken down, but because industry is demanding trained people for new lines of work.

An authority in industrial education suggests a "corporation of co-operators," including representatives of vocational training schools, employers and labor groups, to outline a program for such training. The apprentice program, says another educator, must be essentially an educational one, and there should be in it no exploitation of either employer or employee. It is a double problem of providing young people with work and providing industry with needed skill and intelligence. Organized labor, says Dr. William O. Hotchkiss of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, "should get over the fear of apprentice training." Properly managed, it should benefit labor as much as industry.

WHISTLES.

The Florida East Coast Railway has been trying half a dozen different whistles on a special train, to find which the people prefer. The whistles were numbered and sounded experimentally in 20 towns between Jacksonville and Miami, and ballots were passed around for listeners to record their choice. Here is, indeed, a new note in American life. When before have railroad operators cared what people thought of their locomotive whistles, or any other kind of railroad noise? A whistle was a whistle, and its purpose was to warn and scare people, and that was that.

If the railroad engines now turn musical, maybe motor vehicles will do likewise. Indeed, a start has already been made in that field. Trucks haven't grown very melodious yet, but there are indications of an artistic trend in busses and autos. Why not? Standardized whistles with musical tones might be just as effective for warning purposes as harsh noises that jangle people's nerves or scare them to death.

WEALTH IN ENGLAND.

Reading of the "greatest private fortune in the history of Great Britain," Americans would expect it to run into billions. England has been rated for centuries as the richest nation in Europe. The millionaire in question, Sir John Ellerman, who died three years ago, was a great shipping man, and shipping as everybody knows, has long been one of England's wealthiest industries.

When Sir John died in 1933, his estate was appraised at less than $100,000,000. With business recovery it has been swollen by the rise of numerous assets, so that the latest valuation brings it up to about $200,000,000. This looks petty compared with the estates of our wealthy Americans. We have at least two acknowledged billionaires, and even after the ravages of the worst depression and deflation in history there must be scores of individual Americans with more wealth than is credited to the British magnate.

Pan Symbol to Japanese
To the Japanese the fan is not the trivial plaything it means to us, writes Elmyr Sedgwick in the Atlantic. To them it is in its essence a symbol of authority—not the domination of a drawing room, but a jurisdiction compelling civil obedience and social order. Originally, as the archeologists will tell you, the fan was a scraper, shaped more or less like a mighty paper-knife. Certain it is that between power and the scraper which expresses it there is the closest relation, and in Japan some early genius saw the possibility of enclosing within the scraper the folds of a fan.

The Wrong Murderer

By MUGG CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Torrence Mahoney is well along toward catching a brown leather, murderer of a victim. Little and later of a victim. But Mahoney, through his friend, a man named Fatty Bassett, is in a chair placed against the wall opposite to the cupboard was Lake. His hands and ankles were tied securely to the chair, and he was gagged.

The leader of the invading party gave an exclamation of satisfaction and hurried forward. His two men followed him. For one moment they were off their guard; their backs were towards the cupboard as they clustered round the chair, studying Lake. Fatty Bassett coughed.

Then everything happened with incredible swiftness. The door of the cupboard suddenly flew open, and Fatty's three men sprang out, their pistols in their hands. They did not shoot, since their pistols were not fitted with silencers, but in the same movement with which they left the cupboard they hurled themselves at the three invaders.

THE invading party, taken utterly by surprise, had hardly time to offer any real resistance. Before they could even aim their guns, Fatty's huge fist, with a big Colt clamped in it, had smashed one of them to the floor; Chippy had knocked another senseless. But the third man of Fatty Bassett's party was unlucky.

Just as he hit at the other man of the invading party, the man moved; the blow which had been meant for his

The punch knocked Flynn across the room.

"Wot the...?" exclaimed Bassett in a tone of utter astonishment; but he stepped back from the door, and his hands went up above his head.

Three men quietly entered the kitchen, closing the door after them. They were tough, hard-bitten, evil-looking ruffians and in their hands they carried small automatic pistols fitted with silencers. Their leader, the man who had already spoken, prodded Bassett roughly with his automatic.

"We've come for Lake," he stated harshly. "You know who sent us." Bassett's hands, held up above his head, were trembling visibly; his expression was one of utter terror. "Lake," he stammered. "I ain't seen Mr. Lake. You can search the place, mister; you won't find 'im 'ere."

"I know damned well I can search the place and I shall find him," returned the other man curtly. "If I thought I could find him by simply searching the house I'd have plucked you straight off."

Things were going exactly as Bassett had planned. "Lead on," went on the other man. "And if you so much as squawk you'll get shot where it will hurt like hell, but won't kill you."

THERE was apparently no light left in Fatty Bassett.

"If... if I take you to Mr. Lake, you won't shoot me afterwards," he whimpered.

"If you don't take us to him I'll shoot you right away, through the knee to start with," replied the leader of the invaders contemptuously. "Get on with it."

Shivering, Bassett led the way up the stairs. The three men followed close on his heels, their guns ready for instant action.

None of Fatty's friends appeared. The house seemed quite silent and empty. Fatty led the way through the hall and up a flight of stairs. There he paused for a moment on a small landing, and then flung open the door of a room.

It was a long, narrow room, with a large, built-in cupboard stretching the entire length of one wall. Seatbungalow they occupied near John Gray's has been sold to city parties.

Artificial limbs, like buildings, are going into high heels. An exhibition by the Association of Limb Manufacturers shows remarkable progress in this line. "Leg legs" have become "tin legs," usually made of aluminum, and they weigh only four or five pounds instead of 12 or 14.

RHEUMATISM

Sometimes the "joke" column will have this little fling at the doctors and dentists. "The patient has had had all his teeth removed but he still has his rheumatism."

Now it is easily possible that the patient still has his rheumatism with teeth removed if in addition to infected teeth, the cause of his rheumatism was infected tonsils or gall bladder or the result of constipation.

Fortunately with the use of the X-ray teeth are not removed unless they are infected and are a menace to health whether or not they are the cause of rheumatism.

A rule in medicine, taught to all students, is to look for the commonest causes first in any ailment, and as infected tonsils and teeth stand first as a cause of rheumatism, naturally the physician first looks to the mouth in seeking the cause.

Now while infected teeth or tonsils may be the cause of 75 per cent of those cases of rheumatism due to focal infection (when infection from one part or organ of the body is carried to another as from the tonsil to the knee joint) there is the other 25 per cent which is caused by infection from other organs—gall bladder, sinuses, large intestine and others. Therefore in searching for the infected part or organ causing the rheumatism the physician must keep in mind the entire list, and check off first each one after it has been thoroughly examined and found to be free of infection.

You can readily see that if only the tonsils are removed and infected teeth are also a part of the cause of rheumatism, the symptoms of rheumatism will remain present. The removal of one or two of the sources of infection while others are allowed to remain present and active will almost invariably result in failure to relieve the symptoms.

The point then is that physicians and patients must keep in mind that even with removal of infected teeth and tonsils—the commonest cause of rheumatism—there may be other sources of infection present that must be diligently searched for if relief is to be obtained.

The most common sources of the infections that cause rheumatism are (a) the mouth and teeth, (b) the throat and tonsils, (c) the sinuses, (d) the middle ear, (e) the male and female generative organs, (f) the appendix, (g) the colon or large intestine, (h) the kidneys and bladder, and (i) the gall bladder.

WHO HASNT?

TALKS TO PARENTS

Peacocks

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

She was not particularly pretty, nor was she distinguished looking. She was the kind of person who could pass unnoticed in a crowd. But once she spoke everyone glanced her way. Her exquisite voice and diction made people forget her lack of beauty.

The peacock is undeniably a fine bird, but on account of his strident and unpleasant voice, one thinks twice before keeping one. Fine feathers are not all that count.

No amount of beauty can really make amends for an unpleasant voice. Mere loveliness of face and form fades in time, nor is one always made conscious of an ugly face as one is of a harsh voice. On a moonlit night, for example, when sentiment is in the air, what a girl looks like can be forgotten. Moonlight is becoming to every face. But a voice one can not escape. It is a positive thing, aggressive and ever-present.

And yet parents will tend a child's hair, skin, hands, figure, any feature which strikes the eye, and forget the most important detail of all—the voice. People who never see the girl, judge her by her voice, for a voice reaches farther than personal appearance. And long after her physical beauty is a thing of the past, a woman's voice will continue to be heard.

A beautiful speaking voice is as rare as a beautiful singing voice. But any voice can be pleasant if it is low pitched and well modulated. Few parents and teachers, however, realize the importance of the speaking voice as an instrument, and little training in its use is therefore given to the children. The children themselves regard elocution lessons as something of a farce. A child should realize from the outset that his voice is just as important as his features, and that there is no known make-up that can camouflage its imperfections.

MODENA

Modena, Oct. 16—The annual church fair and supper held in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Wednesday evening of the past week was successfully conducted. Reports of articles offered for sale in the various booths were satisfactory. The supper was splendidly served and the flower exhibit was beautiful. Sundown Stories

The Farmer

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WILLY NILLY, the little gnome-like man, was driving in his automobile. Two ways, to see the farmer who owned the cow and her twins.

The cow was in the empty house where she had hidden to make sure that her twins would not be taken.

When Willy Nilly approached the farm he felt more and more nervous.

He was afraid that the farmer would never believe that the cow had gone to the empty house herself, but would think that he had wanted to steal her.

Willy Nilly saw the farmer now and at once he called out:

"I have found your cow and her twins. But before I give them to you I want the reward!"

"Certainly, certainly," the farmer replied. "I will give any reward within reason."

Willy Nilly was still wondering, however, if the farmer would change his tune when he heard where they were. He might very well think, too, that Willy Nilly had taken them in order to get the reward.

"He doesn't know me," thought Willy Nilly. "He doesn't know that I wouldn't do such a thing. I've never met this farmer before. He lives too far from Puddle Muddle. It's a wonder to me how the cow ever traveled such a distance."

"The reward I want is within reason," Willy Nilly said aloud. And then he told the farmer how they happened to find the cow, how she had explained her reasons for such a journey and how he had understood because he knew animal talk.

"What do you wish for a reward?" asked the farmer.

"I want her to be allowed to keep her twins," Willy Nilly said.

A Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—If President Roosevelt is re-elected, he will face a prospect of having to work with a senate containing probably 40 or more Democratic senators who will not be up for re-election before 1940. There may be more, likely not less.

In addition, there probably will be 14 or more Republican senators in like position.

The prospect of this is if President Roosevelt in the past has exercised a whip-hand over senators dependent upon administration support for re-election, he may have less of a task from now on.

See Clark P.A.B.

There will probably be a majority of Democrats throughout the next two years and possibly in 1938-40. That is not mathematically certain, but politically probable, because of the number of southern states in which republicans cannot be expected.

But what if this majority included an increased number of such senators as Byrd and Glass of Virginia, Holt of West Virginia and King of Utah, who are not afraid to speak out against the New Deal when they question its course? Any number might find independence comfortable since they would not face reelection under the Roosevelt administration.

It is unnecessary to go into all the things that might develop. But to mention one or two: There might be challenges to any appointments to the supreme court if the members consider them too "liberal." There might be a disposition to compel a sharper trimming of the budget than the administration contemplated. There might be a move to curb Presidential power over the currency.

If past experience may be accepted as a guide, the President's influence in a second term will be less in many directions than in the first.

His Victory Would Help

An alternative viewed by some is this: If President Roosevelt dies in a very decisive victory, a victory appearing to rejuvenate the continuation of the New Deal trend, then his influence might be sustained by popular favor.

Perhaps he has an eye on the senate as he stands the midway. A decisive mandate from the electorate could be a powerful weapon there.

Federation Women Heard Three Talks And Reports Given

Saturday was a busy day for the women of the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs inasmuch as three meetings were scheduled for the afternoon. The various sessions were held in the parish house of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church beginning with the executive committee meeting which was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. C. Fraser, at 2 o'clock.

Following the secretary's and treasurer's report, communications were read from Miss Eleanor Mar-nock of Bath, and from Mrs. C. N. Reed of this city, very heartily thanking the Federation for favors granted them and very deeply appreciated. There were no special club reports. Mrs. Treadwell, chairman of the individual membership presented the name of Mrs. James Sneed for membership and Mrs. Sneed was unanimously accepted into the membership of the federation.

Under good government, Mrs. Harry B. Walker, the chairman of that committee reported, following discussions on the matter at the previous meeting, that there is no city ordinance but there is a state ordinance prohibiting children over 10 years of age from riding their bicycles on the sidewalks.

Announcement was made that the better speech class had been postponed until October 21, when it will meet at the Y. W. C. A. Under old business, Mrs. Dumm brought up the matter of how the tea for the open meetings should be financed. It was voted to distribute the cost of the same between the four affiliated clubs and the public health committee, proportionately.

Due to lack of material available for the carrying on of The American Homes class, it was voted that Mrs. Kiothe, the chairman, be provided with a year's subscription to "The American Homes" magazine for use in her work.

Annual Convention.

The call was read for the 42nd Annual Convention of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs to be held at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York city from November 9 to 12, inclusive. It was moved and carried that the president, Mrs. J. C. Fraser represent the Kingston Federation and that her expenses be paid, partially in advance. Additional delegates were chosen as follows: Mrs. Plumb, Mrs. Terpening and Mrs. Treadwell with the following as alternates: Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Mrs. Conrad J. Heiseiman, Mrs. A. D. Egan and Mrs. John N. Cordia. This brought the executive committee meeting to a close.

The full fall open meeting followed the executive committee meeting. Mrs. Fraser cordially welcoming all present and urging every member of the federation, whether of an affiliated club or individual member to attend the business sessions of the open meetings in order that they might know first-hand of the activities and aims of the federation.

Following the quarterly reports of the secretary, Mrs. Fritzog and the treasurer, Mrs. G. C. Lasher, the matter of the chairmanship of the annual luncheon was brought up, inasmuch as Mrs. Clarence B. Schoonmaker, who had been appointed luncheon chairman, had moved out of town. Mrs. Ward Brigham, first vice-president, was chosen in Mrs. Schoonmaker's place.

The affiliated clubs reported as follows: The Cotarie is studying "Ancient Biography;" The Lowell Club has for its study subject, "Drama;" "Modern English" is the topic of Sorosis and The Twentieth Century Club is considering "The Constitution," book reviews and a roll call from the better speech class findings. Mrs. Cornelius Treadwell, chairman of the individual membership, reported 10 members and announced that she had copies of the federation constitution and programs ready for those who were not yet in possession of the same.

Mrs. Harry B. Walker, chairman of the good government committee, reported that committee is active in endeavoring to get as many people as possible to register in order that they might exercise their right of franchise at the coming national election.

For the better speech class, Mrs. Graham, chairman, asked all members of the class to be present at the first meeting to be held at the Y. W. C. A. at 10 o'clock in the morning on Wednesday, October 21.

The American Homes Class will meet at the same place on the same day at nine o'clock in the morning.

Those present ratified the action of the executive committee relative to the choice of delegates and alternates for the coming New York State Federation of Women's Clubs convention, adding the name of Mrs. Kiothe, chairman of the American Homes Class, inasmuch as quite a considerable amount of the time of the convention will be devoted to this subject. This brought the business for the meeting to a close.

Federation Structure

The program included three addresses. Mrs. Harry P. Van Wageningen, third district director of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, was the first speaker, describing the huge structure of the federation of women's clubs in this land, of which the Kingston Federation is but a small part. It was Mrs. Van Wageningen's opinion that the majority do not fully understand and so cannot appreciate the size of this great organization with all of its many departments, each department under the leadership of a chairman who is ever willing to give any possible assistance from her department to the smaller federations such as ours. The state officers are a president, four vice-presidents, recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer, and nine directors each representing a district. The officers and directors hold four meetings a year. Under the directors are the county chairmen.

A particularly interesting and valuable department of the state federation is Mrs. Van Wageningen said, "The Department of Legislation." Mrs. Helena D. Schneider, chairman.

WARM WELCOME AWAITS LONDON

Representatives of this department attend the Tuesday forums held in Albany, for which certain chairmen are appointed to attend, that they may get the proper information for and against bills presented.

The department of welfare under the direction of Mrs. Spornberg is particularly interested in the prevention of crime and Mrs. Van Wageningen reported her as doing excellent work.

Mrs. Van Wageningen also told of the various activities and responsibilities of the district directors. In closing she suggested that the Kingston Federation of Women's Clubs take up some constructive work other than raising money and undertake some project which will be of help to the boys and girls of the community, thus making better citizens of them.

Mrs. Van Wageningen's address was informative and interesting, especially to those not already conversant with federation machinery.

Ask Cooperation

Mrs. Ward Brigham, Ulster county chairman, said that part of her work as county chairman was to stimulate interest in carrying out the federation programs and make plain the amount of constructive work that could be accomplished by cooperation. She asked that as many as possible of the Kingston Federation women attend the Saengerfest meeting soon to be held under the auspices of the Saengerfest Women's Club when Mrs. Spornberg will speak at the Ulster-Greene counties meeting. In closing Mrs. Brigham compared the federation to a huge chain with each link (local federations) necessary to the next one, and asked that the local federation cooperate to the fullest extent in order not only to be of help but as a benefit to its own group.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Harry B. Walker, chairman of the good government committee, who introduced the guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Fay Jackson Libbey of Troy, who is head of the department of civics, citizenship and conservation.

Mrs. Libbey in a short talk gave several good reasons why it is most important to use one's right of franchise and said that inasmuch as there are 30 million women in this country who could vote, the women of the country could elect any candidate they chose.

Each speaker was presented with flowers. Following the program tea was served from an attractively appointed tea table presided over by the president, Mrs. Fraser.

Second Lyceum Course Program Given at Normal

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—The second Lyceum course of the new season was held in the Normal Auditorium on Thursday night. An accomplished group of young American dancers headed by its organizer, Miriam Winslow, presented a balanced, well rounded program of solo and group dances which was varied to provide a full evening's enjoyment. The careful attention of effective lighting and colorful costumes made her program very delightful. Miss Winslow manages a successful school as well as a concert group, her headquarters are in Boston and she has a summer rehearsal studio in the White Mountains, New Hampshire. She has organized a group of four girls who tour with her and help carry out her ideas. For her program here on Thursday night Miss Winslow presented numbers drawn from a repertory which included a new suite to 16 and 17 century music, a group of Spanish and Oriental dances, a swift moving sport intermezzo, a brilliant singlet of Hungarian inspiration, a Dohnanyi waltz and a moving group composition, the familiar Largo of Handel.

Following is the program that was presented: Miriam Winslow and her dancers. Olive Cousens, Mary Hughes, Jacqueline Magrath, Nancy Minor, Mary Campbell at the piano. Suite: Fantasia (Telemann) Ensemble: song (Gracioli). Miriam Winslow: Passepied (Fischer), Miriam Winslow with Misses Cousens and Hughes; Sarabande (Muffat), Misses Magrath and Minor; Hornpipe (Lully-Furcell), Miriam Winslow; Threnody (Gibbons), Miriam Winslow with ensemble; Boy Crusader (Rogers), Miriam Winslow, Infante (Batie) Jacqueline Magrath; Zingari (Kodaly), Miriam Winslow with ensemble; Nuance (Poulenc), ensemble; two Danish Dances (Niemann-Turina), Miriam Winslow; Valces Nobles et Sentimentales (Ravel), Miriam Winslow with ensemble; The Chase (Dohnanyi), ensemble; Le prechaun (Shostakovich) Miriam Winslow; Dance to the Music of Time, Olive Cousens (music arranged by Mary Campbell); Sport Intermezzo (Richard Strauss) ensemble; Valse Impromptu (Dohnanyi).

Miriam Winslow; Largo (Handel), Miriam Winslow with ensemble, Dance No. 10 composed by Olive Cousens.

NORMAL COUNCIL MEETS COMMITTEES.

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—The Student Council met recently in a joint session with the members of various committees which are headed by council members. Student Council discussed several matters of importance which have arisen concerning the school and student body. Although Student Council is made up of only nine members at the present time, there are six standing committees headed by council members of six members each, making a total of 45 members representing the student body.

Dean Leads Discussion.

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—The New York State Teachers' Education Faculties met at Lake Placid on Monday and Tuesday for their annual conference. This group is made up of all the Normal School and Teachers' College faculties of the state. The program as set out by the state department of education is built around the discussion and current problems and the methods and manner by which they affect the whole school life of the student in teacher training institutions. Miss Grace MacArthur, Dean of Women at New Paltz Normal, headed the round table discussion group on the planned program of social life. This position is quite an honor, in that only one faculty member from each school is chosen to head such a group.

Normal Debating Team. New Paltz, Oct. 19.—A debating team is being formed among the upper classmen at the Normal School. A schedule is being drawn up which will include other Normal Schools throughout the state.

Clark at Pleasant Valley

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—George Clark, graduate of New Paltz Normal, is now principal of the Pleasant Valley School. He was very active in sports while in the Normal and president of the Delphi Fraternity.

Rushing Season Begins

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—Open rushing for the fraternities of the Normal opened on Wednesday, October 14, and will continue for ten days. Each fraternity may have two rush parties during open rushing.

LAST RITES ARE HELD FOR MRS. VANDERBURGH

New Paltz, Oct. 19.—Mrs. Sarah Vanderburgh died at her home on Excelsior avenue Thursday night, October 15, after a long illness. The funeral was held Saturday afternoon from her late residence.

Bette Can't Act In England Now

London, Oct. 19 (AP)—Bette Davis, American film player, was restrained today from appearing in motion pictures or other performances in England for any company except Warner Brothers of Hollywood.

The injunction was granted by Justice Sir George Branson in King's Bench Division upon application of the American film company.

The order prohibited Miss Davis from working in a prospective picture for Twentieth Century Fox, a British organization which sought her services. The injunction applied the ban would be operative for the remainder of her contract with Warner Brothers or for three years, whichever period is shorter.

Warner Brothers applied for the injunction last summer and hearings began last week.

Miss Davis was described by her counsel, Sir William Jowitt, as an actress under a "life sentence." Sir Patrick Hastings, representing the American film company, declared Miss Davis was "a naughty little girl who wants more money."

CLARENCE BRODHEAD HELD FOR THIRD DEGREE ASSAULT

Clarence Brodhead, 32, of Marbletown, was arrested at that place Saturday by Troopers Kelly and Elliott on a charge of assault in the third degree. He furnished bail for appearance before Justice Louis D. Sahler of Stone Ridge today.

Brodhead is charged with having struck another Marbletown colored man in the latter's home.

Lehman to Confer On Special Session

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Governor Lehman planned conferences with leaders of both major parties today to prepare legislation for tomorrow's special session of the legislature, called to extend the state's voting hours and provide for a referendum on an eight hour day for New York city firemen.

Scheduled to meet with the Governor were Senate Majority Leader John J. Dunnigan, Minority leader George R. Fearon, Assembly Speaker Irving M. Ives and Minority Leader Irwin Seligman.

The Governor issued the call for the session while in Elmira last week on a stop during his campaign tour of the southern tier.

Brown's Yellow Jackets Play 6-6 Tie With Union A. A. Gridders Here

With one of those freaks common to football, which makes the nation's autumn sport the madcap merry-go-round it is, the Kingston Yellow Jackets battled to a 6-6 tie with the Union A. A. of Bergen county, N. J. A crowd estimated around 500 or 600 attended within the canvas enclosure known as the Fair Grounds.

The New Jersey gridders with a series of clever forward passes gave Coach Dann many anxious moments.

The freak referred to came early in the second period to give the Jackets a 6-0 lead when Jimmy Steigerwald recovered a fumble that had rolled over the goal line. The Unionites tied the score, however, in the third session when Ash plunged over from the one-yard stripe. Steigerwald then blocked the try for extra point.

42 Shooters Took Part in Events at Gun Club Grounds

Seven of the clubs of the county federation were represented by 42 shooters in the various events Sunday at the Ulster County Gun Club grounds when the Federated Sportsmen's Association of Ulster County held its annual shoot to determine the Ulster county champion shot and also the best team in the county. During the shoot more than 4,500 targets were thrown and the boom of the guns was almost continuous from early morning until late in the afternoon.

Frank Van Gonsle with a score of 48 out of 50 targets came home the winner in the individual shoot and thereby becomes the new Ulster county champion. John Lowther of Saugerties, defending champion, broke 45 out of 50. Mr. Lowther last year became the champion by breaking 50 birds for a perfect score. There were 24 entered in the county championship shoot.

The Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association team defended its scratch title successfully and won that event.

Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club defended its handicap title and retained its lead, thereby winning a second leg on the trophy.

The attendance at the shoot was very good and a large crowd of spectators witnessed the various events during the day. Marty Haefele, who had the refreshment concession, was eaten out of house and home and had to replenish his stock of food, so great was the demand.

While the number of shooters was not so large as at some of the previous shoots, the number of prizes was considered good considering the times and the shooters who participated all won a prize. In fact the prizes this year were exceptional fine and every shooter won prizes of considerably greater value than his entry fee. Prizes ranged all the way from a case of shells to a $9 casting rod down to various articles which might be handy to any hunter or fisherman.

Following are the scores of the seven clubs entering teams in the matches:

Isaac Walton League of Ellenville, Scratch 209. Handicap 228 1/2.

New Paltz Rod and Gun Club, Scratch 215. Handicap 229 1/2.

Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club, Scratch 217. Handicap 230 1/2.

Saugerties Rod and Gun Club, Scratch 198. Handicap 232 1/2.

Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association, Scratch 217. Handicap 230 1/2.

Woodstock Rod and Gun Club, Scratch 151. Handicap 211.

Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club, Scratch 204. Handicap 234.

With Frank Van Gonsle leading off with a score of 48 to win the county individual championship the other shooters in that event placed as follows:

Club	Scratch	Handicap
Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association	217	230 1/2
Isaac Walton League of Ellenville	209	228 1/2
New Paltz Rod and Gun Club	215	229 1/2
Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club	217	230 1/2
Saugerties Rod and Gun Club	198	232 1/2
Woodstock Rod and Gun Club	151	211
Rondout Valley Rod and Gun Club	204	234

The members of the Ulster County Fish and Game Protective Association team which retained its scratch title are:

Coles	41
Caunitz	45
J. Van Gonsle	47
Benoit	41
Longendyke	42

Another Football Shake-up is Expected in Coming Grid Bill

New York, Oct. 19 (AP).—Still afoot in Maryland.

fering from the shock produced by the astonishing results of last week's far-flung warfare, the football world drastically revised its form sheets today and looked forward to another possible gridiron earthquake when the general call to arms next is sounded.

Never in recent years have so many championship contenders been summarily removed from the ranking list in one comprehensive sweep. Seven major eastern powers, headed by Pitt and Princeton; Georgia Tech in the south and Texas in the southwest, and Denver and Brigham Young in the Rocky Mountain district, all suffered their first defeats of the campaign.

Among major schools, here's the way undefeated list shaped up today:

East: Yale, Army, Fordham, Holy Cross, Duquesne, Villanova, Georgetown, George Washington and Catholic.

Mid-west: Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, Notre Dame, Michigan State and Marquette.

Southwest: Texas A. & M.

South: Duke, North Carolina, Tulane, Louisiana State, Alabama and Auburn.

Far West: Southern California, Washington State, Santa Clara and St. Mary's.

Rocky Mountain: Utah and Utah State.

This is the outlook this week for the east:

One undefeated record will go to smash when Fordham, 20-6 victor over Little Wayneburg last week, entertains St. Mary's Gaels, far western power, who were held to a 0-0 tie by San Francisco yesterday. Of the other undefeated eastern teams, Holy Cross, George Washington, Catholic and Georgetown will run considerable risks.

Holy Cross 13-7 conqueror of Manhattan, meets Carnegie Tech's Tartans who ruined Temple's perfect slate, 7-0, last week. Catholic, which stopped DePaul, 12-7, finds Mississippi's unlikely forces next in line; while Georgetown must tackle New York University, nosed out 14-13 by North Carolina. George Washington's foe will be Wake Forest.

Duquesne, which sprang a tremendous upset in whipping Pitt 7-0, on a 72-yard touchdown run by George Malsik, should handle West Virginia Wesleyan without undue trouble. Boston University surprised Washington University, 6-0, but looks over-matched against Villanova, 13-0 winner over Western more array, victor over Syracuse, 19-7, will meet Penn State, upset 7-6, by Lehigh, while Harvard confronts Dartmouth, 34-0 conqueror of Brown. Colgate, trounced by Tulane, 28-6, should stop Lafayette and Brown looks to be no match for Penn.

The intersectional slate includes Columbia-Michigan, Centre-West Virginia, Syracuse-Maryland and Manhattan-Detroit pairings.

NEW PALTZ NORMAL BEATS STROUDSBURG

New Paltz Normal won over the East Stroudsburg Normal teachers 6 to 0 Saturday at East Stroudsburg. Jack Aiello scored the winning touchdown for New Paltz. Morrison, former Raymond Rindan star, did excellent work in the backfield for the winners.

ARMY SWEEPS OVER HARVARD

Playing at Cambridge in mud and driving rain, Army's versatile eleven rumbled over the Harvard Crimson, 32 to 0. Kias Fears K. H. S. Eleven Will Suffer From Postponement

With the scheduled Mount Pleasant encounter cancelled due to a combination of adverse weather conditions and the resultant soggy field, preparations for the Port Jervis contest were slated to get under way today. The Schenectady-K. H. S. affair was called off early Saturday morning amidst a heavy downpour. Ironically enough, the overcast sky cleared up and a brilliant burst of sunlight bathed the Fair Grounds just before game time and continued clear the balance of the afternoon.

The after-effects of the cancellation on the local squad may wreak considerable havoc with Coach Kias' well-laid plans. The home town brigade was keyed up to an intensive pitch for the oncoming fray and the resultant let-down may have a disastrous culmination in the Port game. Burning up from three straight set-backs at the hands of Makofski's men, the Maroon standard bearers were keyed to a fighting phase of mind, and unless the contest is re-scheduled later will be denied a chance for revenge this year.

The A. A. confers suffered a sharp setback from the erratic climate, as a huge crowd had planned to witness the early season classic. Loss of the assured gate-receipts may curtail the activities of some of the various athletic groups.

With an unfortunate break in a well-planned program behind them, the Kiamen will point for the coming encounter Saturday when they engage in their first DUSO League game of the current campaign. The squad is in fine shape physically, except for a slight injury to Arnie Nyulassy's underpinning, and probably will shake off the effects of the Saturday fiasco in time to hit their real stride against the Chasemen.

Port Jervis demonstrated its real capabilities when they triumphed toughly Saturday by a 26-0 margin. Playing in its own rank for the first time this year, the Red and Black brigade showed a scoring punch that had been lacking against such powerhouses as Stamford and Garfield. Based on the records the locals are two touchdowns better than the Glenneville Field gladiators, but past results have proved that preceding performances mean nothing when DUSO opponents collide.

K. H. S. Harriers Ready for Annual Annandale Meet

The K. H. S. cross-country harriers began preparations for the annual Mid-Hudson Intercollegiate Meet to be held at the Bard College course, Annandale-on-Hudson, Saturday. This yearly blue-ribbon event attracts entries from schools and academies all over the Hudson Valley, with Ira Dubois of Wappingers Falls being installed as the favorite to win the individual championship. Joe Hart finished 11th in the 35 edition, in a field of top-notch runners.

Coach Kinsella's squad capped their first meet of the season last Thursday when they defeated the Bard College varsity hill and daleers by a 20-25 margin over an arduous course. Competing against the varsity harriers accustomed to the collegiate distance of four miles instead of the regulation high-school length, the locals made an impressive showing, by annexing the meet. Teal, the stellar Bard College pasture prancer, finished first with a running time of 12:49. Ike Campbell and Joe Hart, localities, annexed the 2nd and 3rd slots in a closely contested event. Kerley, of Bard, captured fourth place, and Jesse Shultis and Capt. Johnny Leonard crossed the line in the fifth and sixth berths. Bard College hill hikers gained 7th and 8th before George Celuch ambled home to take 9th honors.

The Maroon dale dashers showed impressive form in their initial meet against first class opposition and an arduous course, and indications point to a favorable showing in the Mid-Hudson meet and against Beacon at the local course on October 29.

Church Basketball League Meeting

The Church Basketball League will hold a very important meeting tonight at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30. All managers of various teams are urged to be present. Teams participating must present their players list as well as the deposit at tonight's meeting. Seven or eight teams are expected to meet the league's requirements at the session. The schedule will probably start Monday night, November 2. All games will be played on the "Y" court.

K. H. S. Rivals Win Victories Saturday

Kingston's DUSO football rivals, Middletown and Port Jervis, notched victories in Saturday's games. Middletown, the circuit favorite, remained undefeated by spanking Poughkeepsie High 24-0 indicating that Coach Black's boys are hot on repeating their DUSO coup. Port Jervis, which plays here next Saturday, throttled the down-trodden Poughkeepsie squad 25 to 0.

Songbird Kate Smith's Original Celts Will Hold No Terrors For Manager Frank Morgenweck's Locals When the Third Season of Professional Basketball Opens Wednesday Evening at 8 o'clock at the Municipal Auditorium.

For Morgenweck views the opener with optimism and says that while Kate's theme song of a moon coming over a mountain is excellent so far as music goes, he feels sure the Celts will have no use for the lullaby his hoopsters will render under the bright lights. He is certain the tune of defeat will, like an onion, stick with the Celts for a long, long day.

It will be a revamped lineup which will greet the local fans, for inevitably one by one the famous Originals are fading from the picture. Now only the durable Dutch Dennert, Nat Hickey, Pat Herlihy and "Fatty" Banks remain. Bobby McDermott, the league's leading scorer in 1935, Bill Nash, former Columbia captain, and Paul Birch, Duquesne's high scoring forward, will comprise the Celtic team.

Morgenweck Experiments. Manager Morgenweck has been experimenting with 10 players in the drills that started last Thursday. The starting lineup, however, will consist of Captain Husta, Phil Rabinowitz, Corky Stanton, Lefty Kintzing and Tiny Hearn.

"Pip" Koehler, Ben Miller, Mike Musica, Milton McDermott and Halpern are the tentative substitutes, although Morgenweck is likely to drop two or three before the official league season opens two weeks hence.

In workouts to date Rabinowitz, the first year sensation of the team, and Captain Husta are showing advanced form. Both appear ready for league duty any time. Kintzing, Stanton and Hearn should be in fair shape by Wednesday. Stanton is staying in Kingston during the week to be on hand for all the workouts.

Games with the Celts of the past few years have always proved interesting exhibitions, and with the addition of talented young blood like McDermott, Nash and Birch the Celts should be stronger than they have been in recent years.

Saturday's Football Stars

(By The Associated Press)

George Malsik, Duquesne—Ran 72 yards for touchdown that "upset" Pittsburgh.

Don Geyer, Northwestern—Made touchdown and two points and started lateral-forward pass play that produced winning score in 14-13 triumph over Ohio State.

Harold Hirschman and George Schroeder, U. C. L. A.—Combined on two touchdowns passes to beat California. Lloyd Russell, Baylor—Scored twice and ran 36 yards with intercepted pass to begin other scoring drive in rally that brought 21-18 decision over Texas.

Low Elverson, Penn.—Sprinted 57 yards for winning touchdown against Princeton.

Sid Luckman, Columbia—Threw three "touchdown" passes in 38-0 rout of Virginia Military.

Cecil Isbell, Purdue—Made one touchdown, passed for another and kicked four extra points against Chicago.

Johnny Stidger, Southern Methodist—Intercepted pass and made long run, then passed to Sprague for first tally against Vanderbilt; made second touchdown on lateral pass after 26 yard dash.

John Howell, Nebraska—Threw passes for both touchdowns that beat Indiana 13-3.

City Bowling Captains to Meet

A city wide meeting of all bowling captains has been called by President Peter Keresman for Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:30. The purpose of the meeting is to complete elections of the City Association executive committee. Under A. B. C. rules every captain is a member of the Board of Directors and therefore obliged to attend the meeting. Captains of all leagues are urged to attend.

Tokalan Dog Wins Silver Trophy

The silver trophy for "best in show" was won by Tokalan Sporting Print at the invitation match show held on the estate of the Hon. Townsend Scudder at Greenwich, Conn., yesterday.

Sporting Print is a two year old male tan and white cocker spaniel and was bred by his owner, Mrs. Robert Browning, of West Hurley.

The best puppy at this show was sired by Mrs. Browning's Cream Pie and owned by the Saye and Seie Kennels of Old Lyme, Conn.

Between 70 and 80 cocker spaniels were present to be passed upon by the judge, John Hill, of Darien, Conn.

Sandwich fillings which keep well for several hours and that do not have a strong odor are best for a lunch box. Cottage cheese, cream cheese, or grated cold cheese may be mixed with salad dressing, dill pickle, lemon juice, or sweet or sour cream, and combined with finely chopped nuts, raisins, dates, figs, prunes, apples or olives, grated carrots, chopped cabbage, chopped spinach or watercress.

"Standard Policy" Halts Radio Broadcast in Vandenberg Debate

Candidates and Issues

By The Associated Press

Washington.—President Roosevelt returns to White House for 40-hour stay before starting campaign swing into New England.

Enroute.—Governor Landon, heading to Los Angeles to speak tomorrow night, calls on president to say whether he intends to revive NRA. Fitchburg, Mass.—James Roosevelt says "we must shorten working hours and better working conditions for men and women."

Kansas City.—Colonel Frank Knox will cap a campaign tour through Nebraska today with speech at Lincoln.

Chicago.—Radio officials refuse to re-broadcast Senator Vandenberg's interrupted "debate" with recorded voice of President Roosevelt.

Colorado Springs, Colo.—Representative William Lemke says Roosevelt has beaten himself and Landon was never in the race.

Albany.—Governor Lehman promises dairy producers "elimination" of "the middleman's excessive profits." Turns his campaign for reelection toward upstate dairy country.

En route.—William F. Bleakley, moving into western New York, urges full state aid for education and restoration of teachers' salary cuts.

ABRAHAM BAWER HELD ON CONTENT OF COURT CHARGE

Abraham Bawer, 46, whose address is given as Ellenville and occupation hotel keeper, was arrested at Ellenville Saturday by Deputy Sheriff's Vredenberg and McCullough on an order issued by Supreme Court Justice Sydney Foster and brought to the Ulster county jail.

Bawer is charged with contempt of court in failure to pay alimony and counsel fees and the order directs that he be held in $2,000 bail, pending a hearing.

SOUTH ROUNDOUT

South Rondout, Oct. 19.—Raymond Andersen has returned to New York city after spending the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Andersen.

Mrs. Charles Wesley of Port Ewen and mother, Mrs. Kathryn Hood, of Jersey, spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. James Wesley. Little Lillian Wesley returned home with them after a two-day visit to her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wesley.

Donald Maurer had the misfortune to break his arm while at play on Friday evening, and is under the care of Dr. George W. Ross of Port Ewen.

Doris and Nancy Barnum of Kingston visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cole, of Second street, on Saturday.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of the M. E. Church will meet on Tuesday evening, October 20, at the home of Mrs. Thomas Morrissey.

Free Pleading Good Behavior

Trooper Duan and Deputy Sheriff Brown were called to Atwood Sunday afternoon on complaint that Roscoe North of Stone Ridge had threatened Philletus Palen of Atwood with bodily harm and had also used improper language. North was arrested and arraigned before Justice Oscar Church of High Falls on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty and the justice suspended imposition of sentence pending good behavior.

New Palis Man Gets 5 Days

Theodore Lorence, 32, New Palis painter, was arrested at that place Sunday by Deputy Sheriff Charles Newkirk, on a charge of disorderly conduct. He was arraigned before Justice I. C. Barnes, who committed him to the Ulster county jail for five days.

Form 33D, 5-12-36-200 (2-13-31)

State of New York

Department of State

Albany, October 1, 1936.

PURSUANT to the provisions of section 10 of the Election Law, the following Proposition number One and Question number One will be submitted to the voters of this State for approval at the General Election on November third, nineteen hundred and thirty-six.

EDWARD J. FLYNN, Secretary of State

ABSTRACT OF PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

The purpose and effect of this proposition is to authorize the creation of a state debt to the amount of thirty million dollars, to provide funds to be available from November 1, 1936, to February 1, 1937, to relieve the people of the state from the hardships and suffering caused by unemployment and the effects thereof on the public health and welfare, including the granting of aid to municipalities for such purposes through such agencies and by such ways and means as the legislature shall have prescribed or hereafter may prescribe for the administration and distribution of unemployment relief and the costs thereof, the said aid to be represented by bonds to be known as "unemployment relief bonds," which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of not to exceed five per cent per annum and be payable in ten installments, the first of which shall be payable one year from the date of issue and the last of which shall be payable within two years after date of issue, and in no case to exceed the probable life of the work or object to which the proceeds thereof are to be applied as determined by the State Finance Law.

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF PROPOSITION NUMBER ONE

Each chapter five hundred thirty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred thirty-six, entitled "An act authorizing the creation of a state debt, to the amount of thirty million dollars, to provide funds to be available from November 1, 1936, to February 1, 1937, to relieve the people of the state from the hardships and suffering caused by unemployment and the effects thereof on the public health and welfare, including the granting of aid to municipalities for such purposes through such agencies and by such ways and means as the legislature shall have prescribed or hereafter may prescribe for the administration and distribution of unemployment relief and the costs thereof, the said aid to be represented by bonds to be known as 'unemployment relief bonds,' which bonds shall bear interest at the rate of not to exceed five per cent per annum and be payable in ten installments, the first of which shall be payable one year from the date of issue and the last of which shall be payable within two years after date of issue, and in no case to exceed the probable life of the work or object to which the proceeds thereof are to be applied as determined by the State Finance Law."

ABSTRACT OF QUESTION NUMBER ONE

The purpose and effect of this question is to determine whether there shall be a convention to revise the Constitution of the State of New York, and amend the same.

FORM OF SUBMISSION OF QUESTION NUMBER ONE

Shall there be a convention to revise the Constitution and amend the same?

Chicago, Oct. 19 (AP)—Denying a Republican national committee contention that "free speech" had been jeopardized, Columbia Broadcasting System officials maintained today that established policy would not permit rebroadcast over their chain of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg's interrupted "debate" with the recorded voice of President Roosevelt.

In what Executive Vice President Edward Klauber described as "a sudden and hurried decision" by our Chicago office on Saturday night, the broadcast went on over part of the network, particularly western outlets, while some eastern stations were cut off the chain.

The broadcast came two minutes after system officials, learning that a phonograph would be employed to reproduce President Roosevelt's voice, had announced the chain would not carry the program at all.

Vice President H. Leslie Atlas, in charge of Columbia's Chicago offices, said he reconsidered the announcement just before Sen. Vandenberg stepped to the microphone, but that in the meanwhile some eastern and New England stations had been disconnected.

To a demand by Hill Blackett, director of the Republican national committee's public relations division, for a free rebroadcast, Klauber replied:

"We will neither give time nor sell time to the Republican party to broadcast a program in which the President's voice, or any other person's voice, is reproduced on a phonograph record or simulated by an actor."

That, he declared, was "standard network practice," asserting: "There is no issue of free speech here."

Because of the "confusion," he said, and Blackett's statement that the committee did not obtain "value received," no charge would be made for Saturday's air time.

Klauber's statement came after Blackett, at Chicago, had told the press the action was "another example of intimidation of radio stations by the federal radio commission."

Senator Vandenberg, speaking before about 40 guests in a North Michigan avenue club, employed a phonograph to reproduce what he said were remarks made by President Roosevelt during the 1932 campaign.

The Republican speaker then "replied" to the phonographic interpolations.

Blackett said the committee, in making its secret arrangements, had believed no rule was being violated. Atlas said he did not learn the phonograph would be used until ten minutes before the broadcast time.

Lehman Carries His Campaign Upstate

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Governor Lehman prepared today to carry his re-election fight into the heart of upstate New York's dairy country with a defense of the administration's milk control policies and a promise to dairy producers to "eliminate the middleman's excessive profits."

The state's chief executive, getting ready for the final campaign swing upstate, selected Watertown as the spot to explain his position on the ticklish milk control problem and possibly answer his Republican opponent's claim that he is associated with large dairy interests.

Milk control—a major plank in the Democratic party's state platform—remains as the only platform point not touched upon by the governor in his campaign to date and Lehman's aides indicated he would give a detailed explanation of his position at that time as a major campaign talk.

After declaring that the dairy farmers' income had increased more than 25 per cent in three years of milk price control, the party's platform states that "continuation of the milk control law should depend solely upon the will of the majority of the dairymen."

TRINITY LUTHERAN BOYS' CLUB ORGANIZED

On Friday evening, October 16, 15 boys of the Sunday school of Trinity Lutheran Church held a meeting in the church assembly rooms and organized Trinity Lutheran Boys' Club.

The purpose of forming this club is to stimulate greater interest on the part of the boys in church and Sunday school work and at the same time provide them with several evenings of supervised recreation each month.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John Roenn, president; Robert Werner, vice president; William Grothkopp, secretary and treasurer.

The club, which is being sponsored by Trinity Lutheran Men's Club, will meet on the first and third Wednesday evenings of each month at 7 o'clock and any boy of the church or Sunday school from the age of 10 to 18 years is eligible for membership.

Following the business meeting on Friday night refreshments and several games of dart baseball were enjoyed by the boys after which they were taken to their respective homes by several members of Trinity Lutheran Men's Club, who were present at the meeting.

Harry Warren, the movie song writer, was a piano player and general handy man at the Vitaphone studios in Brooklyn when the late Larry Semon made comedies there, 20 years ago.
